Chairman's Message

CA. Saket Bagdia
Chairman,
Nagpur Branch of ICAI

Dear Professional Colleagues,

The Success of Team Work-
Coming Together is a beginning,
Staying together is progress,
And working together is success.
-Henry Ford

We always need a good company to perform our tasks well. Its not the number of persons which matter more. It's the integrity as well as commitment and the most important belief in each other which brings the success.

CA stands for Alphabets of trust. There is always a very small difference between what a person is capable of doing and what he or she actually does; and this difference can very well be covered with only three golden words which I have believed all throughout my life and that is "Believe in Yourself". For everything which we aspire for in our lives there are only two requirements and these are "Hard Work" and "Perseverance". Try and try till you succeed.

With the reduction in number of covid cases, the month of August'21 is appearing cosy for us. CA Students Talent Search contest was an excellent initiative of ICAI to build budding professionals and prepare them to be the best in their efforts. It was a privilege for Nagpur Branch to host a National Conference on International Taxation, the first one organized by Committee of International Taxation. "International Taxation is a topic to nourish, cherish and flourish" was the theme of the National Conference on International Taxation hosted again as per Nagpur Model from morning 8 am to 11 am. Program Chairman CA Pramod Jain, CCM and Chairman of the Committee also addressed the participants with his words of wisdom. The National Conference contained expert faculties from all over the country and was hugely successful.

An RRC to Shrinagar was a big success and I congratulate all attending of the RRC. The importance of Peer Review was well explained to participants from all over the country when Nagpur Branch hosted a 2 day Peer Review program organized by Peer Review Board and hosted by Nagpur Branch. The enlightenment by Committee Chairman CA Anil Bhandari, CCM was acknowledged and appreciated by all participants.

The joy of Independence Day celebration was doubled with a patriotic presentation by CA Students of Nagpur with a virtual event titled as "Ek Shaam Desh ke Naam" It was a super successful event with Student participants who enthralled the viewers on Nagpur WICASA Youtube channel with their fantastic and patriotic presentations. The National Flag was hoisted by Past Vice Chairman WIRC CA Aniruddha Shenwai who was the Chief Guest for the event which was further graced by the presence of Hon. Past President ICAI CA Jaydeep Shah as Guest of Honour.

An interesting VCM on New Labour Laws – Impact on business, financial services & Relevance for CA's was organized by Banking Finance Services & Insurance Committee and hosted by Nagpur Branch of WIRC of

WIRC Vice Chairperson's Message

CA. Drushti Desai
Vice Chairperson,
WIRC

Dear professional colleagues,

It is a great pleasure to communicate with you through this newsletter. The past one year has taught us new ways of working and communicating. The profession has seen a transformation. What we considered impossible before the pandemic is now the new normal.

Technology which was always available at our fingertips but which remained unexplored was suddenly the way to go. Meeting on virtual platform was never considered in the ordinary course. This has not only become acceptable to the fraternity at large but is also viewed as the future way of working. The concept of boundaries has lost relevance. A professional can now serve anyone on the earth. As long as one has the capability to deliver quality service will keep finding newer avenues.

Secondly, virtual programs have thrown open all the learning platforms to anyone who wants to enhance his knowledge. Now all the professionals across the entire region have the same opportunity to learn and deliver services.

I would end by saying that it is upto us to see whether we would call a glass half empty or half full. Truly the pandemic has shown us a better side of our work potential.

Yours truly,

CA. Drushti Desai
Vice Chairperson, WIRC

Joint Editor's Message

CA. Ashok Dalmia
Joint Editor

Respected Seniors in Profession and Dear Members,

Greetings to one and all!!!

Our Profession always has been a breeding ground of great leaders. We have been winning challenges all through our professional journey. Every Chartered Accountant is a leader guiding the common person from financials to all aspects of their life to prosper.

As a Professional we enjoy embracing the challenges and are trained to take the bull by its horns rather than escaping in between them. A small story to explain the development of leadership vision in our profession:

Three Stone Cutters were engaged in a particular work. When enquired with the stone cutters for the reason to engage in this profession, the following replies received-

1. First person – Engaged in this work to maintain my family.
2. Second Person – Engaged in this work to exhibit that I am the best.
3. Third Person – Engaged to build the most beautiful temple in this world.

Though their jobs were identical their perspectives were different. Whatever action is performed by a great man, common men follow in his footsteps. And whatever standards he sets by exemplary Acts, the entire world pursues.

Our Institute drives us to develop this visionary perspective in an ethical way for the work we do. We Professionals are not only a visionary but also achieve our vision within the rules and regulations set by the Government and Our Institute.

Little drops make a huge difference. A Successful Professional must

1. Be assertively good – have the right values as well as a strong intellect.
2. Work for a higher ideal.
3. Have clarity of thinking.
4. Be competent – have the requisite job skills and be hard working.
5. Have the courage and daring to uphold the Principles and Ethics of Our Institute.

Our Professional work culture should have fearlessness, purity, straightforwardness and should not have personal desires and improper performance.

Upon getting qualified as member of this August Institute, we are bound by the Code of Ethics which anchors us, while giving wings to our professional glory. Professionalism is a way of life for all of us and the traits of good morals and high competency form the cornerstone. This is maintained through continuous up gradation, an impeccable personal image, and most importantly our ability to engage. It is these personality traits especially our ability to engage which is helping us cope during these difficult times with hope and optimism.

And while we are fighting this pandemic, we are also engaged in maintaining our professional competencies. Some opportunities may fade but a whole new set of professional windows are also opening up.

Let us equip ourselves in this lull, in the ABCD of Technologies, Analytics, Block Chain, Crypto and Data. Let us forge into the new areas of practice of Insolvency, Valuation, ADR, Cloud audits, Forensics. Let us network with fellow professionals to form multi-disciplinary firms, which will soon be a reality.

Joint Editor's Message

Let us evaluate ourselves using the Audit Quality Maturity Model- version 1.0. This is a capacity building measure to enable sole proprietors and audit firms to self-evaluate their current level of audit maturity. Additionally, this helps identify areas where our competencies are good or lacking and develop a road map to upgrade to a higher level of maturity.

The Bhagavad Gita says that we should not be overly excited in good times nor overly depressed in bad times; more so during this pandemic. The best way forward is to keep ourselves engaged and having a composed mindset to achieve more peace and happiness in our lives. Let us be resilient to win this war and keep the flag of our profession flying high.

The winners in life think constantly in terms of I can and I will.

While the Losers, on the other hand, concentrate their thoughts on what they should have done or what they can't do"

Valuation of residual value of Property, Plant and Equipment

CA. Nitin Jichkar

Now a days every organization is focusing on the process of capitalization of assets that includes life of assets, date of put to use and additional cost associated to bring assets to the present location, etc however most ignored area while capitalization of assets is determining the residual value of the assets.

Significance of residual value:

- Ŷ Determination of depreciation
- Ŷ Determination of cost for product line
- Ŷ Disposable performance of assets
- Ŷ Etc.

As per Accounting Standard 16 Property, Plant and Equipment, residual value define as follows:

“The residual value of an asset is the estimated amount that an entity would currently obtain from disposal of the asset, after deducting the estimated costs of disposal, if the asset were already of the age and in the condition expected at the end of its useful life.”

Further we can say residual value is salvage value, is an estimate of the monetary value that an asset will have after its useful life has ended. In other words, it's the final prize as asset is worth after it is completely used up.

In practicality most of the organization is considering residual value of assets on the basis of percentage of original value or nominal value, however in order to achieve the objective for determining accurate residual value of the assets auditor needs to consider following area:

1. First time determination of residual value :

- Life of asset is inversely proportionate to the residual value, thus an auditor should be very cautious while verifying the life of the asset and he should consider the impact of useful life of asset determined by the management on the residual value.
- Expected expenditure for disposal of assets, same should be deducted from the identified residual value.
- Technical assistance for determining life of assets and residual value

2. Review of residual value :

- Organization shall review the residual value and the useful life of an asset at least at the each financial year-end with the help of technical assistance, if expectation differs from previous estimate, the change should be incorporated.

3. Company Policy :

- It is foremost important to the auditor to give regard to the company's existing policy with respect to determination of the residual value of the assets, if the same is not in execution then auditor should communicate with the management.

4. Suggested methods for determining residual value :

- A. Comparables. If a residual value is to be calculated at all, the most defensible approach is to use the residual values of comparable assets, especially those traded in a well-organized market. For example, there is a large market in used vehicles that can be the basis for a residual value calculation for similar types of vehicles.
- B. Valuation of assets from external parties
- C. Resale price of assets

Conclusion

In nutshell determination of residual value is estimated technically at the beginning of the useful life of the asset and is assessed/reviewed periodically to determine whether there is any change in the previous estimates or not. Thus, such process of estimation or residual value is an independent exercise and should not be benchmarked with above mentioned methods or percentage of cost of assets. It may be noted that the residual value of asset is often insignificant and immaterial. Further, in order to comply with the Companies Act,2013 the residual value of asset should not be more than five percent of the original cost of the asset unless it is properly justified, duly supported by technical advice and adequately disclosed in the financial statements. Further residual value should not be linked with percentage of original cost of assets or any other random value, the residual value is absolute value and need not have any nexus to the historical cost.

Data Management and Data Security for Everyone - 2 sides of the same coin!!

CA. Ravi Ashok Ramani

"You have to understand accounting and you have to understand the nuances of accounting. It's the language of business and it's an imperfect language, but unless you are willing to put in the effort to learn accounting – how to read and interpret financial statements – you really shouldn't select stocks yourself" – Warren Buffett

Introduction and Context

- o One might wonder what is common between the quote about accounting (from the renowned investor Warren Buffett) and the topic of data management and data security. It is that – both are highly underrated, and yet – extremely crucial for the longevity of any successful business entity. Please allow me to elaborate, but before that – let us understand the basics before we go any deeper.
- o What is data Management - Data management (DM) is the practice of collecting, keeping, and using data securely, efficiently, and cost-effectively. The goal of data management is to help people, organizations, and connected things optimize the use of data within the bounds of policy and regulation so that they can make decisions and take actions that maximize the benefit to the organization. A robust data management strategy is becoming more important than ever as organizations increasingly rely on intangible assets to create value. In simpler words – the information gathered in the course of normal business over a period of time, is stored and used in a such a manner, that the business derives more utility and such information becomes a tangible/intangible asset of the business. A simple example – client's contact information acquired over a period, if stored systematically in an address book, software or on the cloud, adds value. However, if the same information is scattered everywhere or worse case, not stored at all, it is a missed opportunity to manage client communication in an organised manner.
- o What is data security - Data security (DS) is the practice of protecting digital information from unauthorized access, corruption, or theft throughout its entire lifecycle. It is a concept that encompasses every aspect of information security from the physical security of hardware and storage devices to administrative and access controls, as well as the logical security of software applications. It also includes organizational policies and procedures. To continue the same example from data management, if the client contacts address book is lost, a valuable information asset is lost by the business.

- o Data Management and Data Security – are not new concepts, however – due to the use of modern technology and internet, the scope and magnitude of these concepts has expanded dramatically!!
- o These two aspects are of utmost importance – not just for big corporate organisations, but for small and medium enterprises too. The reason is simple – internet and technology have made inroads into the personal space of individuals to such an extent, that it is no longer optional for people to ignore basic safety measures and practises. What is required of people currently is – to equip themselves with at least the basic information that is required to keep oneself relatively safe!! Because, absolute safety is a myth, even for the Governments and Companies.
- o The end goal of achieving absolute security – it should drive us to improve our habits in the cyber world, but not overwhelm us to abandon the endeavour itself.

Shift from Traditional to Modern ways

- o Traditional business ways are not bad. However, traditional business wisdom needs to transcend into today's technological era and evolve with the changing times and technology.
- o Whether we like it or not – more and more individual and small businesses are embracing technology, to either increase their efficiency and/or expand their profits. But this happens only when the business owners are willing to embrace the inevitable, sooner rather than later!! A very good example of this is – street vendors accepting electronic payments through QR Codes and UPI.

- o The key here is - A businessperson needs to ask himself always, is – What can they do better or differently, which will add value for their customers or themselves? Using technology to enhance the customer experience, will always lead to better sales.
- o It can be overwhelming for anyone, when they see the possibilities – but it is important to take small steps and improve the business practises gradually.
- o Smaller entities generally have 1 or 2 key persons doing all the work and handling all the tasks which hold the organisation together and bring in more revenue. Due to this very nature of how the affairs of the entity are handled – it is a usual tendency for business owners to think (consciously or subconsciously) – only sales is important as it brings money, and rest of the ancillary activities such as book keeping, data security, etc. tend to take a back seat. Businesses should not treat such activities as cost-centres or as a burden, but rather a value addition.

A Classic Example of Traditional Data Management – Book Keeping

- o This is the reason why, gave the comparison between accounting and data management, as book keeping itself is a good example of Data Management. To put the reader at comfort and give a more relatable example of Data Management – there is no better example than Book keeping.
- o The history of accounting or accountancy is thousands of years old and can be traced to ancient civilizations.
- o The early development of accounting dates back to ancient Mesopotamia, and is closely related to developments in writing, counting and money and early auditing systems by the ancient Egyptians and Babylonians. By the time of the Emperor Augustus, the Roman government had access to detailed financial information.
- o In India, Chanakya wrote a manuscript similar to a financial management book, during the period of the Mauryan Empire. His book "Arthashastra" contains few detailed aspects of maintaining books of accounts for a Sovereign State.
- o The Italian Luca Pacioli, recognized as The Father of accounting and bookkeeping was the first person to publish a work on double-entry bookkeeping, and introduced the field in Italy.

- o The reason for highlighting Book-Keeping as an example of DM, is Twofold –
  - § Firstly, our roots, history and traditional practises – all point towards the fact that, even though DM does not bring revenue directly – it is greatly responsible in preserving the wealth of the entity.
  - § Secondly, principles of DM, which are applied in bookkeeping – need to be expanded in capturing the non-financial data of the business entity as well; thanks to technology, as the means to achieve the same are widely available today! Examples of Non-Financial data include, but not limited to – Practise Management Software, Customer-Relationship Management, Customer Contact Information, User History, Call Logs, Employee Appraisals, etc. The list is long and is only limited by the human imagination.

Why the need for DM and DS?

- o It is a known fact in history, that because the business data was mostly in the nature of physical form like books, ledgers, physical documents, etc. – all that was required to secure such data was – Physical custody!! There was only one entry and exit point, which made the management and security a rather simple affair.
- o Fast forward to the modern age – due to the multi-dimensional availability, access and use of information, managing the data is no easy task. In addition,
- o due to this multi-dimensional nature, DS has become a topic of greater concern and importance.
- o I will repeat once again – the quantum of risk that a business owner sees, can get overwhelming. However, it is of utmost importance – to not get overwhelmed AND continue the process of making small-small improvements over a period. Because, DM and DS are not an end to a means – but rather a continuous process of improvement over the life of any business.
- o A special mention to the initiative of ICAI that highlights the sentiment of continuous improvement is – DCMM 2.0 i.e. Digital Competency Maturity Model Ver. 2.0. This is a great example of constant learning and evolving of any business, where a CA practitioner can do a self-assessment of its digital readiness using this module and take small steps towards the eventual goal of being an ideal entity following the principles of DM and DS.

Professional Enrichment

- o Once the CA fraternity embraces the best practises enumerated in the DCMM 2.0, it can become a stepping-stone for enabling the CA's in giving DM and DS consultancy to their clients. And for that, the CA's need not be experts – but they can identify the areas where the clients can be benefitted by the implementation of better DM and DS practises.
- o This also opens up an additional avenue of consultancy for the Chartered Accountant fraternity, to give to their clients and businesses.

Actual use cases of DM and DS – Few Highlights

- o From experience, I can share that – the topic or name of Technology itself may be an unnerving experience for many CA's and businesses alike. However, all I request to my fellow peers and readers of this article, is that – please know that there is no single person on this planet who knows everything! It is important to acknowledge our shortcomings and just focus on the little everyday tasks, one at a time - which we can improve or do better. That is all that matters.
- o Below is a short list, which is indicative (not exhaustive) of small steps/tasks which can be taken up in this long journey of DM and DS.
  - § Structured Data Storage – One needs to identify the various locations, where the critical/important data of the organisation is. This is a preliminary and basic task, without which – going further in this journey is next to impossible.
  - § Central Location – Once all the critical data locations are identified, one can begin the work to securing the distributed data and bringing the data to one central location for greater access control.
  - § Automated-Back up – A must activity for any entity using computers for processing or storing the data in electronic form. This often-considered redundant activity becomes a lifesaver of a business in catastrophic situations. It seems useless until needed, but seems divine if/when the need arises.
  - § Remote Access Ability – A major concern of businesses, especially during this pandemic – was the security issues during the Work-from-Home scenario. There is NO protection against intentional mischief, but remote access ability is worth exploring. One should consult professionals how this ability can be integrated (especially for service oriented businesses) with minimal risk of data theft and loss.

- § Basic Security – Given the nature of this expense, an entity must study the threats involved and cost of mitigating such threat. However, every organisation must invest in at least - licensed OS and Anti-virus for enterprise version. This would greatly enable an organisation in staying relatively safe in the cyber world.

- o Important note – most above-mentioned steps can be done without incurring additional cost or at minimal costs. However, it is recommended, to have a professional involved in the decision – where based on the use case, suitable hardware can be used if not already available. This is mainly because – if compatible/capable hardware is not used in the end, data loss or work disruption can adversely affect the business processes. This should be kept in mind, always.

Conclusion

- o As the process of Data Management and Data Security is always an ongoing process and is very subjective, it is very difficult to offer a – One size fits all – solution.
- o Due to mass adoption of various technologies, cost effective solutions are also available – provided, business owners seek those solutions proactively.
- o Needs of one business may vary drastically from another business. However, most of the best practises are good guiding points and enable the business owner to map a path suited to his business.
- o As the author of this article, I have tried my best to translate the technical jargon (avoid all together where possible) in common parlance, to make good use of the common knowledge. It has been my endeavour to keep this article as simple and relevant to the regular business/practise owners.
- o I thank the ICAI and its dignitaries for giving me this platform to share my thoughts and knowledge. And also a big thank you to my fellow CA's and readers – for patiently grasping what I had to convey.

Health & Wellness

Back Health and Posture

Good posture involves training your body to stand, walk, sit and lie in positions where the least strain is placed on supporting muscles and ligaments during these activities. Read on for illustrations and instructions for correct lifting, driving, sitting, and sleeping positions.

What is posture?

Posture is the position in which you hold your body while standing, sitting or lying down. Good posture involves training your body to stand, walk, sit and lie so as to place the least strain on muscles and ligaments while you are moving or performing weight-bearing activities.

Good posture helps you in the following ways:

- Keeps bones and joints in the correct position (alignment) so that muscles are being used properly.
- Helps cut down on the wear and tear of joint surfaces (such as the knee) to help prevent the onset of arthritis.
- Decreases the strain on the ligaments in the spine.
- Prevents the spine from becoming fixed in abnormal positions.
- Prevents fatigue because muscles are being used more efficiently, which allows the body to use less energy.
- Prevents backache and muscular pain.

Correct sitting position

- Sit up with your back straight and your shoulders back. Your buttocks should touch the back of your chair.
- All 3 normal back curves should be present while sitting. You can use a small, rolled-up towel or a lumbar roll to help maintain the normal curves in your back.

- Sit at the end of your chair and slouch completely.
- Draw yourself up and accentuate the curve of your back as far as possible. Hold for a few seconds.
- Release the position slightly (about 10 degrees). This is a good sitting posture.
- Distribute your body weight evenly on both hips.
- Bend your knees at a right angle. Keep your knees even with or slightly higher than your hips. (Use a foot rest or stool if necessary.) Do not cross your legs.
- Keep your feet flat on the floor.
- Try to avoid sitting in the same position for more than 30 minutes.
- At work, adjust your chair height and work station so that you can sit up close to your work and tilt it up toward you. Rest your elbows and arms on your chair or desk, keeping your shoulders relaxed.
- When sitting in a chair that rolls and pivots, don't twist at the waist while sitting. Instead, turn your whole body.
- When standing up from the sitting position, move to the front of the chair. Stand up by straightening your legs. Avoid bending forward at your waist. Immediately stretch your back by doing 10 standing backbends.

Here's how to find a good sitting position when you're not using a back support or lumbar roll:

- Distribute your body weight evenly on both hips.
- Bend your knees at a right angle. Keep your knees even with or slightly higher than your hips. (Use a foot rest or stool if necessary.) Do not cross your legs.
- Keep your feet flat on the floor.

Health & Wellness

- Try to avoid sitting in the same position for more than 30 minutes.
- At work, adjust your chair height and work station so you can sit up close to your work and tilt it up at you. Rest your elbows and arms on your chair or desk, keeping your shoulders relaxed.
- When sitting in a chair that rolls and pivots, don't twist at the waist while sitting. Instead, turn your whole body.
- When standing up from the sitting position, move to the front of the chair. Stand up by straightening your legs. Avoid bending forward at your waist. Immediately stretch your back by doing 10 standing backbends.

Correct driving position

- Use a back support (lumbar roll) at the curve of your back. Your knees should be at the same level or higher than your hips.
- Move the seat close to the steering wheel to support the curve of your back. The seat should be close enough to allow your knees to bend and your feet to reach the pedals.

Correct lifting position

- If you must lift objects, do not try to lift objects that are awkward or are heavier than 30 pounds.
- Before you lift a heavy object, make sure you have firm footing.
- To pick up an object that is lower than the level of your waist, keep your back straight and bend at your knees and hips. Do not bend forward at the waist with your knees straight
- Stand with a wide stance close to the object you are trying to pick up and keep your feet firm on the ground. Tighten your stomach muscles and lift the object using your leg muscles. Straighten your knees in a steady motion. Don't jerk the object up to your body.
- Stand completely upright without twisting. Always move your feet forward when lifting an object.
- If you are lifting an object from a table, slide it to the edge of the table so that you can hold it close to your body. Bend your knees so that you are close to the object. Use your legs to lift the object and come to a standing position.

- Avoid lifting heavy objects above waist level.
- Hold packages close to your body with your arms bent. Keep your stomach muscles tight. Take small steps and go slowly.
- To lower the object, place your feet as you did to lift, tighten stomach muscles and bend your hips and knees.

What is the best position for sleeping and lying down?
No matter what position you lie in, the pillow should be under your head, but not your shoulders, and should be a thickness that allows your head to be in a normal position.

- Try to sleep in a position that helps you maintain the curve in your back (such as on your back with a pillow under your knees or a lumbar roll under your lower back, or on your side with your knees slightly bent). Do not sleep on your side with your knees drawn up to your chest. You may want to avoid sleeping on your stomach, especially on a saggy mattress, since this can cause back strain and can be uncomfortable for your neck.
- Select a firm mattress and box spring set that does not sag. If necessary, place a board under your mattress. You can also place the mattress on the floor temporarily if necessary. If you've always slept on a soft surface, it may be more painful to change to a hard surface. Take the time to find the right mattress and box spring for your needs.
- Try using a back support (lumbar support) at night to make you more comfortable. A rolled sheet or towel tied around your waist may be helpful.
- When standing up from the lying position, turn on your side, draw up both knees and swing your legs on the side of the bed. Sit up by pushing yourself up with your hands. Avoid bending forward at your waist.

These recommendations will benefit most people who have back pain. If any of these guidelines causes an increase of pain or the spreading of pain to the legs, stop the activity and seek the advice of a physician, chiropractor or physical therapist.
